women's leadership in business education

Provide a year of support and accountability to your academic team with access to a phenomenal global network of women leaders

Women in BizEd (WiBE, pronounced WEE-bee) brings together inspiring and ambitious women academics & administrators at every level of leadership in business schools from around the globe. WiBE uses community and professional development—like our workshops, global convenings, in-person conferences and working groups—to propel women into leadership roles. We invite you to support high-potential women at your institution to advance business education.

WiBE represents a powerful network of academic women leaders blazing the trail to new opportunities.
